True friendship never ends. Best friends forever. Thats the vow Joy, Diane, Rochelle and Yvette made when they were children, and even in their mid-thirties, the friends have always been there for each otherthrough the highs and lows of life and love. Until forever comes up against a terminal cancer diagnosis. Nothing could have prepared them for what life would look like when four became three.But Yvette was prepared.Her final gift to her girls is an all-expenses-paid trip to Jamaica like they had always talked about but kept putting off as life got in the way. The Jamaican getaway seems to come at the perfect time as the remaining friends deal with their grief, dashed hopes, and unexpected relationship drama. Sick of putting her dreams to open a spa on hold, not to mention her husbands lack of support, Joy decides shes moving forward with her new businesswith or without him. The thunderous ticking of Dianes biological clock has her wondering if her desire to have a baby will ever come true, and her husbands bizarre behavior has her questioning if hes still on board. And after witnessing her friends imploding relationships, single mother Rochelle is content to do life on her own, but her heart doesnt seem to get the memo when a new man unexpectedly enters the picture. Guided by Yvettes spirit, the friends must lean on each other now more than ever before as they learn to navigate their new normal, take unexpected risks and live life with no reservations. Praise for No Reservations At times both deeply emotional and heartwarmingly funny, No Reservations encapsulates the beauty of the unbreakable bond of enduring friendships and true sisterhood.
