Are you in search of the absolute BEST in your life? Are you tired of the "rat race" at work and eager to make more of an impact? Would results and relationships that actually last matter to you? Do you feel like you're navigating life with a broken compass? You've come to the right place. Building upon his signature "silver platter" story, which has touched hearts, impacted communities, and transformed culture; Randy Fox is back with another message that will change everything for you and your organization. Certainly the silver platter lives on, yet it is time for us to go even further. Higher. Next level. A new gold standard: excellence! The Call To Excellence is the opportunity, responsibility, and honor before you to influence people and impact results in the highest manner. The call is something we are all familiar with when it comes to phones and devices, but how about all those other types of calls you make and accept in life? Each of the calls explored in this book come together to form one primary call. This call is the core of your being. It's the most important call. It's the call of your life! The call to make a difference. The call to embrace moments, accept a mission, and live life to the fullest. This call is about thriving in all aspects, personally and professionally. It's about making a profound difference in the world and on all those you influence. What you do will influence people. It's up to you if that influence will have impactful results that bring you closer to others, closer to joy, and closer to excellence. The question before you now is this: Will you make, accept, and live out these calls to have a noble life and pursue excellence in all things? Come explore the possibilities, joy, and fullness of a life lived well. A life that truly changes the world. It's time to maximize your potential, increase your performance, and be truly fulfilled in your life. It's time for the call to excellence!
