Solution. At our company we use the Acrobat DC "Combine files in Acrobat" function available in Windows Explorer to combine signed documents. Do not use the download Combined PDF option for PDFs that have been digitally signed When merging signed documents, remember that the digital signatures originally present on the documents are deleted; only the Signature appearances remain in the merged 3, · When you open a pdf document in preview and the document has a someone signature (digital signature like an autograph) on the document. At our company we use the Acrobat DC "Combine files in Acrobat" function available in Windows Explorer to combine signed documents. The signatures disappear after Combining PDFs that were signed digitally breaks the digital signatures. If the field is already added in the form, you can simply click on the field to add the signature. The signatures disappear after combining the files, and blank signature fields reappear The signature field in the form is the reason why "Sign yourself" is greyed out. Flattening PDFsWe can see the digital signatures when we view the pdf form in our email in the browser (chrome), but once the pdf is downloaded and opened in adobe, all the digital signatures disappear. If there is no form field in the form, use the following steps to digitally sign the PDF When you open a pdf document in preview and the document has a someone signature (digital signature like an autograph) on the document. How do we fix this?? Then you try to merge this signed document with another pdf, the signature that was initially disappears Follow these steps to set up digital signature validation, certify a PDF, timestamp a document, ad validate or remove a digital signature in Adobe Acrobat Then you Follow-up the prompts and create your new PDF file which will maintain the digital signatures during merging or attaching to other PDF documents.
