A gardeners death sends a country house into a frenzy, and a governess-turned-sleuth digs in to the case:Miss Silver is marvelous (Daily Mail). Edward Random returns to Deeping a forgotten man. Although raised in the villages manor house, he is no longer wealthythe result of a quarrel with an uncle, which left him out of the old mans will. For years Edwards name has not been spoken in the town, save for wild rumors that he had gone to prison for dueling, decamped to the Orient, or had simply died of mysterious circumstances. In fact, he is in good health, ready to start life where he left off, money or no money.But the old family feud stands in his way, and the situation at the manor house grows vicious in the wake of the under-gardener William Jacksons death. Did he drown by accident, or was he murdered? Only Maud Silver, the demure but brilliant detective, can say for sure.
