Introduction

Many people find a standing desk with drawers ensures a perfect fit for their daily tasks. That's likely why standing desks have gained such a large share of the market. Although they're clearly not for everyone, standing desks offer the most flexibility for your workday and – given their mobility – maximum flexibility for your office design as a whole.

Find the most comfortable, efficient, and sturdy standing desk that meets your needs. Make sure that it provides the right amount of surface area, and that it supports the amount of weight you usually have on your desk. Choose lockable casters if you think it would be nice to move around the room easily.
