Social anxiety, her parents divorce, and messy friendships wont stop Millies pursuit of what she wantsin roller derby or in love. But her own lies might . . .Sixteen-year-old Millie Novak is stuck in anif only rut. If only she were stronger and faster, maybe her roller derby teammates would take her seriously. If only she had the guts to go back to in-person learning, maybe shed have a social life. If only she weren't such an awkward mess, maybe she could get the attention of that cute girl on the all-star derby team. And dont get her started on her family! After the one-two punch of her beloved older brothers departure for college and her parents overdue split, Millie decides its time to reinvent herself. With the help of her new friend Pumpkin and a little bit of deceit, Millie crafts a plan to cement her status on the team and get her crush to fall for her. But reinvention isnt easy. Millies constantly shown up by show-off teammate Stork, and the only way she can get her crushs attention is through increasingly elaborate lies. Worse, she begins to suspect Pumpkin is not the supportive friend shed imagined. Toughest to handle? Realizing the person shes in love with might not be her longtime crush, after all.
