Introduction

The real estate M&A (Mergers and Acquisitions) market has witnessed positive development in the first half of 2024 with notable transactions and new trends, becoming the focus of attracting investors, domestic and foreign investment.

Let's explore the ATS Legal law firm now!

New Year Welcome 2024 highlights M&A trends

During 2023, M&A Vietnam carried out numerous activities, including the establishment of the Industrial Real Estate Group and then developing into the Industrial Real Estate Investment Promotion Centre (IPC M&A Vietnam) in August 2023 and piloting the operation model of the center in cities and provinces like IPC Haiphong, IPC Ninh Binh, and IPC Bac Ninh-Bac Giang.

M&A trend in 2024 would focus on logistics, especially the field of frozen food transportation and warehousing, and health and tech applications, specifically aimed at IT companies developing software for hospitals.

Regarding the taste of Singaporean investors in 2024, panelists said that they would prioritize finding businesses with the potential for sustainable development in the long term.

The panelists said that changing the mindset towards selling shares or selling a company at a time when business develops well, would increase the likelihood of finding potential investors and creating synergistic value through the combination of two companies.

Vietnam is increasingly integrating into the global economy. Therefore, to participate in global M&A, Vietnamese enterprises need to have transparency in their financial flows, they recommended.
