'Brilliantly funny, emotional and uplifting' Miranda Dickinson Heartwarming, hilarious and fun - the perfect read for anyone who loved Eleanor Oliphant is Completely Fine, A Man Called Ove, Ruth Jones and JoJo Moyes. Evie Gallagher is regretting her hasty move into a care home. She may be seventy-five and recently widowed, but she's absolutely not dead yet. And so, one morning, Evie walks out of Sheldon Lodge and sets off on a Great Adventure across Europe. But not everyone thinks Great Adventures are appropriate for women of Evie's age, least of all her son Brendan and his wife Maura, who follow a trail of puzzling text messages to bring her home. When they finally catch up with her, there are shocks in store... because while Brendan may have given up on life and love, Evie certainly has not. 'Lovely... a book that assures that life is far from over at seventy' Cathy Hopkins, bestselling author of The Kicking the Bucket List 'Brimming with warmth, humour and a love of life... a wonderful escapade' Fiona Gibson, bestselling author of The Woman Who Upped and Left 'I absolutely loved everything about this book... 5* out of 5*' The Ginger Book Geek 'By its end I'd laughed, cringed, felt really concerned, giggled, cried (rather a lot) and emerged into the rosier future with a heart broken, mended, and singing with joy' Being Anne '5 stars! I Loved Evie... She has a Passion and Zest for life... I want to go travelling with her! ... If you read one book that is a little different this month let it be A Grand Old Time! You won't regret It!' Dash Fan tags:
