To Young, Find, read and cite all the research Communist societies taken to be paradigmatic. They have to simply take orders and cannot develop/use their talents or skills My starting point is reflection on the conditions of the groups said by these movements to be oppressed: among others, women, Blacks, Chicanos, Puerto Ricans and other Spanish Accordingly, I offer below an explication of five faces of oppression as a useful set of categories and distinctions which I believe is comprehensive, in the sense that it covers FIVE FACES OF OPPRESSION Act of using people's labors to produce profit while not compensating them fairly, creating a system that perpetuates class differences. The contexts in which members of these groups use the term oppression to describe the injustices of their situation suggest that oppression names, in fact, a family of concepts Five Faces: Powerlessness By virtue of one's status, a person lacks standing, authority, autonomy. Act of oppressed. Oppression is therefore an evil perpetrated by Others, not our society PDF In "Five Faces of Oppression," Iris Young conceptualizes a theory of justice that extends beyond distributive theories of justice. I derive the five faces of oppression from reflection on the condition of these groups. Because different factors, or combinations of factors, constitute the oppression of different groups, making their oppression irreducible, I believe it is not possible to give one essential definition of oppression Oppression as a Structural Concept: Traditional notion of oppression is "the exercise of tyranny by a ruling group," along with, e.g., colonial domination.
