SophieWith college graduation behind me and a highly coveted internship with the most prestigious event planner in the country awaiting me in New York City, I'm ready to say farewell to Vegas and reward all my years of disciplined hard work with one passionate night in a sexy stranger's bed. The hookup was anonymous, only first names exchanged, so imagine my surprise when I find out he's not only a new client's brother, but my brother's new boss. And the chemistry is still crackling between us. But my priorities are focusing on my career and exploring my new city, not dating. Besides, Hunter Cartwright isn't the guy for me. He's thirteen years older, my brother's boss, and a notorious bachelor. But I can't deny my attraction to him and all too quickly I'm giving in to his proposal. An agreement for a no-strings attached relationship where Hunter shows me the city's sights, which includes a full tour of his bedroom. It's a simple arrangement...until my pregnancy test comes back positive. HunterI'm married to my career as CEO of Premier Real Estate. Never able to give a woman the time or attention she wants, I've kept my romantic life casual. From the moment I saw Sophie on the dance floor in Las Vegas, I knew I had to have her. I thought it would only be one night, but now that she's living in the same city, I can't stop thinking about her. She's young, and focused on starting her career, but that's perfect because I don't have the time or inclination for a relationship. When she takes me up on my offer to show her the city while we explore the chemistry between us, I'm relieved. We'll enjoy each other until the flame between us dies out. Then, I'll do what I always do...walk away. But the more time we spend together, it's becoming impossible to imagine that moment. And when we discover our no strings arrangement will leave us entangled for the rest of our lives, I'm determined to prove to Sophie that I can be a forever kind of guy.
