

Translations:Open Documentation training/2/en documentation is a very vital step in any making, when you want to build or create any hard ware or idea you need to follow steps and of which these steps have to be documented to give hence give you a bigger picture of all your working.