Understanding the Microsoft DP-900 Exam

Before diving into your exam preparation, it's important to understand the structure of the DP-900 exam. The Microsoft DP-900 is designed to assess your knowledge of basic data concepts, such as relational and non-relational data, data processing solutions, and Azure data services.

Here are the major domains covered in the DP-900 exam:

Describe Core Data Concepts (15-20%)

1. • This includes understanding the difference between relational and non-relational data, data processing types such as transactional and analytical, and basic concepts of data processing.

Describe How to Work with Relational Data on Azure (25-30%)

1. • This section covers the fundamentals of relational databases, core services like Azure SQL Database, and how to use SQL to query relational data.

Describe How to Work with Non-relational Data on Azure (25-30%)

1. • This section explores non-relational databases such as Azure Cosmos DB, and the use of key-value, document, graph, and column-family data.

Describe an Analytics Workload on Azure (25-30%)

1. • You will learn about various analytics workloads, data visualization tools, and Azure services such as Azure Synapse Analytics and Azure HDInsight.

Understanding these domains and practicing questions that test these concepts will increase your chances of passing the DP-900 exam. ITEXamstest DP-900 exam dumps provide a deep dive into these domains with real exam questions to help you master them effectively.
